The importance of seatbelts.

Wearing a seat belt saves lives

For your own and others' safety, the law requires you to use a seat belt if fitted. Children up to 12 years old, or up to 135 centimetres in height, are required to use a child car restraint.

- Wearing a seatbelt saves hundreds of lives every year. You should wear a seat belt in both the front and rear seats. Wearing a seatbelt in the back is just as important as wearing one in the front of the vehicle.

If you are sitting in the back of a car without a seat belt and you crash at 30mph, you will hit the front seat – and anyone in it – with a force of 30 to 60 times your own body weight.

- This could result in death or serious injury to you and people sitting in the front seat.

Your compensation for injury resulting from an accident may be reduced if you are not wearing a seat belt.

Seat belts: the law

- You must wear a seat belt where one is fitted. There are very few exceptions to this.
- The driver is liable to prosecution if a child aged under 14 years does not wear an appropriate seat belt which, for children aged under 12 years and shorter than 135 centimetres in height, means the correct child restraint.
- A child may wear an adult seat belt when they reach 135 centimetres in height or the age of 12 years old (whichever is reached first).

The law in respect of cars, vans and goods vehicles is summarised in the table on the next page.

My School, My Planet - Mind Kind Visit
(Learning Through Landscapes)

For the last year, some of our KS2 children have been working on a project called "Learning through Landscapes" by the My School, My Planet project. This project has been teaching the children about our environment, biodiversity and how we can leave a lasting impact for future generations.

As part of the project the children visited a local Charity called Mind Kind who focus on mental health in the local community and support local businesses. The children planted a variety of plants to create a sensory garden for the centre's users.

My School My Planet

The Space Centre

On Friday, our Year 5 pupils visited The Space Centre in Leicester. It was an absolutely amazing day as we got to find out all about our solar system and saw many different artefacts that explained what Space is really like. We even got to see a piece of moon rock!

The highlight of the day was the planetarium, where we took a 3D interactive journey through space and beyond and found out all about how some of our best loved myths are linked to different constellations.

The children were exceptionally well behaved and really enjoyed the day.
